

TALLY-HO! TORTURED A HORSE AWARDED $18,000. TRYING TO SAVE IT.

Big Verdict in a Suit Growing Out of the Merrick Road Disaster.

MISS STEWART, PLAINTIFF. BADLY BURNED BY STEAM.

Proved by Witnesses That She Was Confined to the Bed for One Year.

A verdict for $18,000 damages was awarded to Miss Clara Stewart against the Long Island Railroad Company in the Supreme Court in the Borough of Brooklyn yesterday. Miss Stewart is one of the victims of the terrible Merrick road trolley disaster, which occurred on Decoration Day, 1897, at Valley Stream, L. I. She sued originally for $50,000.

The Alpha Delta Theta Society of the Green Acre Baptist Church, Brooklyn, chartered a gigantic stage coach for a picnic down the country to take place on May 30. There were twenty-four young men and women in the party, including three drivers, who had been sent along to handle the four horses on the coach.

At a point in the village of Valley Stream, L. I., where the Merrick road crosses the tracks of the Long Island Railroad the coach was struck by a locomotive drawing a passenger train. Five of the merry-makers were killed outright and fifteen were more or less seriously injured. It was feared for a time that two of those who had been hurt would die, but modern surgery patched them up.

The day after the accident the Journal set on foot an investigation which proved that the railroad was entirely to blame. A coach drawn by four horses was taken in Valley Stream and practical tests showed that the coach was so dense that the automatic alarm bell was out of order on Decoration Day and had been for a long time previous.

A verdict was shortly afterward rendered by the jury placing the blame for the accident on the railroad company, and a verdict of $18,000 damages was returned. The Long Island people have fought every one of them inch by inch, but the Supreme Court has in this case upheld the verdict of the jury which have considered the cases.

Miss Stewart's life was severely injured. For a long time she was confined to bed. She suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and internal injuries, and testimony in her case was so convincing that the jury had been confined to her bed for one year.

Will Diagnose the Town's Laws.
Vineland, N. J., March 3.—All the Condemnation Commission selected at the Republican Borough Convention last night are physicians. They are Dr. O. H. Adams, Dr. George Cunningham and Dr. John S. Hall. The candidates are accused of wanting to "doctor" the town laws, but they say that all they are anxious to do is to make the town laws conform to the curfew ordinance.

They Ridicule It.

MANY PEOPLE RIDICULE THE IDEA OF AN ABSOLUTE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLES.

Ridicule, however, is not argument and facts are stubborn things.

Stomach troubles are so common and in many cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such people pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially on medicines.

This fear of being humbugged may be carried too far, in fact, that many persons suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are really different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines, for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aspicin, pepsin, digestive acids, golden seal, bismuth, hydrastis and iron. They are not cathartics; neither do they act powerfully on any organ; but they cure indigestion on the common-sense plan of digesting the food eaten promptly, thoroughly, before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles, because they act entirely upon the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals, digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headache, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite, and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for book on stomach diseases or ask your druggist for it.

A Peculiar Fact.

Thousands of People Have Dyspepsia in Its Worst Form and Do Not Know It.

A weak stomach is the cause of about nine-tenths of all diseases, yet in most cases the wrong thing is treated, and the true cause is overlooked. This is because a weak digestion produces symptoms resembling nearly every disease, because it weakens and disturbs the action of every nerve and organ in the body; poor digestion causes heart trouble, kidney trouble, rheumatism, and especially nervous breakdown or nervous prostration; the nerves cannot stand the wear and tear unless generously fed by well-digested, wholesome food.

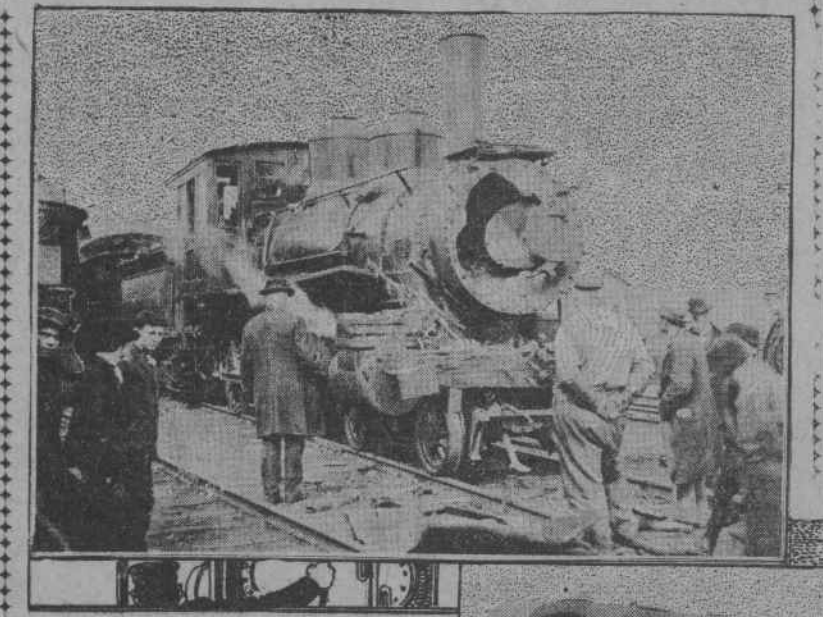

Keep the digestion good and no one need fear the approach of disease.

Mr. H. L. Law of Rochester, N. Y., writes: "For the sake of suffering humanity I want to say that from a child I had a very weak stomach, throw up my food very often after eating, and after a few years nervous dyspepsia resulted, and for more than twenty years I have suffered incessantly."

"I tried many physicians and advertised remedies, with only temporary relief for nervous dyspepsia, and not until I commenced taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets last September, six months ago, when I have been free from suffering caused by the condition of my nerves and stomach; in short, chronic nervous dyspepsia."

"I have recommended Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to many of my friends, and now I want in a public way to say they are the safest, pleasantest, and, I believe, the surest cure for stomach and nerve troubles. I write my honest opinion, and will gladly answer any letter of inquiry at any time."

BLACK SET WRONG, TRAINS CRASHED.

The Susquehanna Suburban Crashes Into a Pennsylvania Switch Engine.

NO ONE BADLY INJURED.

Three Cars Take Fire, and Are Destroyed on the Elevated Structure.

A train loaded with commuters ran into another which was empty early yesterday morning in the yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Jersey City on the elevated structure upon which trains are run into the depot. Three cars were destroyed by fire, but no one was killed, nor was any passenger or employee seriously injured.

The New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad utilizes the terminal facilities of the Pennsylvania system at Jersey City. The system of block signals and interlocking switches in the Pennsylvania yards is supposed to be perfect. Leslie, the engineer of the 840 Susquehanna suburban train, had no hesitation when he saw the signals right, to take his train on to the trestle at a speed of fifteen miles an hour.

The train was made up of a combination baggage and smoking car and two day coaches.

A little ahead of the next track to the left a switch engine was puffing along behind three cars of the Pennsylvania road, which were being shunted from the yards into the Pennsylvania tracks. The engineer of the switch engine, a man named McKenzie, had full confidence in the interlocking switch system and was sending his train along at about ten miles an hour.

But there was something wrong with a switch, and Leslie saw too late that he would swerve to the parallel track and hit the Pennsylvania cars. He shut off steam, applied the air brakes and jumped. So did his fireman and the engineer and driver of the switch engine, as well as a couple of switchmen who were riding on the Pennsylvania passenger car platform.

The shock of the collision telescoped the rear car of the train the switch engine was pushing. Passengers of the suburban train were thrown in heaps at the front of the cars in which they were riding, and those in the first car were compelled to climb out through the windows. A gas tank under the combination car of the Susquehanna train was broken. Fire from the engine communicated to the gas and the cars took fire.

McKenzie, with the switch engine, pulled the Pennsylvania cars out of the way, but the Susquehanna engine was unable to pull its train to a place where the fire might be extinguished. The Fire Department was called and firemen climbed up on the track and fought the flames.

Facts With Points.

Every One of These Statements Absolutely True.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, 61 Prospect street, Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I desire to say that I write that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets completely cured me of Nervous Dyspepsia, from which I had suffered for the last four years. I had tried many remedies without results, but am now cured and have gained in flesh, sleep well and have none but words of praise for Stuart's Tablets."

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels, Lynville, Iowa: "It has been six months since I took Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and am fully cured. Have not had a particle of distress or difficulty since. This is in the face of the fact that I had suffered from trouble for 25 years and was pronounced incurable by the doctors."

James Newmeyer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Two 50-cent packages of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets did me more good than any remedy I had ever before tried. They hit the spot with me and I now have an appetite and can eat what I please without fear of distress and bloating afterward."

Dr. Harlandson relates the case of Miss Helen Sholes, of Nashville, who was cured of dyspepsia and gained 18 pounds in weight after suffering from stomach trouble for eight years. The doctor uses them in all stomach troubles because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain pure pepsin, digestive acids and valuable digestive, which digest the food whether the stomach works or not, gives it the needed rest, and a cure is the natural result.

Dr. Jonsson says nine-tenths of disease is caused by indigestion, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the safest and best cure, because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain the valuable digestive principles needed by every weak stomach, and a whole box would not hurt a child, being absolutely harmless.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents per package.

Gratifying Results.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy—Not a Patent Medicine, but a Safe Cure for All Forms of Indigestion.

The results of recent investigation have established beyond question the great value of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles. It is composed of the digestive acids—pepsin, bismuth, golden seal and similar stomachics—prepared in the form of twenty-grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry them travelling, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effective cure yet discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and flesh, nausea, sick headache, palpitation of the heart and the many symptoms arising from imperfect digestion of food. They cure because they cause the food to be promptly and thoroughly digested before it has time to sour, ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Over 6,000 people in the State of Michigan alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Full-sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50 cents or sent by mail on receipt of price from F. A. Stuart Company, Marshall, Mich. Send for free book on stomach diseases.

KIPKING STORIES TO BE A WELL MAN.

He Takes Lessons of Doctors and Nurses and Hums Ballads.

ONE DAUGHTER VERY ILL.

This Is Kept from the Poet, Who Talks and Reads and Steadily Improves.

Rudyard Kipling is regaining health. It is a passive phase, usually, but his physicians and his nurses saw yesterday that he was not a well man.

Susquehanna Train Burned on a Trestle.

He had made it a task for himself. Dr. Dunham explained pneumonia to him, the details of the battle against it and the reasons that he had for using in the battle certain methods, and not others that are practised elsewhere.

The nurses showed to the poet their charts of pulse and of temperature at all the hours, and replied to questions about their work, which were intelligent and appreciative. Mr. Kipling talked, read, hummed the music of ballads. The sun came into the room to-day in his power.

Mrs. Kipling's face was radiant. Her heart was heavy for her oldest daughter, Josephine, who was seriously ill. Mr. Kipling was not to know this.

His younger daughter, Eisle, isolated in a room of the hotel, was on the way to health again; their youngest child, John, seemed to be vigorous, but the eldest child needed extraordinary care.

Writing was with the physician to the house of her friend, Miss De Forest, where the child is, and returned to the hotel hardly reassured. She said: "There is no cause for alarm, but it is pneumonia."

In the afternoon the bulletin on the desk of the hotel said: "Mr. Kipling continues to improve, a slight fever, but temperature and pulse are a little above normal. E. G. JANEWAY, THEODORE DUNHAM."

Mr. Janeway said Mr. Kipling is as well as could be expected.

40,000 Physicians

USE THE NEW PREPARATION FOR DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLES.

Not a Secret Patent Medicine, but a Cure for Every Form of Indigestion.

It has been stated recently that not less than 40,000 physicians are using or endorsing the new discovery for indigestion sold by all druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Dr. Tomlinson gives the following reasons why physicians regard the new remedy with so much favor:

First, because it is NOT a secret patent medicine, but a scientific combination of vegetable essences, pure aspicin, free from animal impurities and of very high digestive power, bismuth and golden seal.

It has been tested repeatedly, and the experiments have proved that one grain of the digestive principles in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand times its own weight of lean meat, eggs, oatmeal and similar wholesome foods.

The tablets act wholly upon the food taken into the stomach, digesting it thoroughly, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not, and cure all forms of dyspepsia and stomach troubles on the common sense plan that they nourish the body and rest the stomach at the same time.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not act upon the bowels like the old-fashioned after-dinner pills, nor are they an artificial stimulant, like "stomach bitters," nor are they in any way similar to the so-called pre-digested foods, which consist of 85 per cent of "glucose," the stuff that cheap candies are made from, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do what none of these do—they act wholly upon the food eaten and digest it completely, and the cure of indigestion is an assured fact, because the food being properly digested it cannot lie for hours in the stomach, fermenting, decaying, filling the system with germs of disease, which it assimilates, nourishing and invigorating not only the body and brain, but the stomach itself as well. The tablets are absolutely harmless, and can be given and are given with benefit to little children and infants suffering from indigestion. As shown, they contain no mineral poisons, anything in any way injurious.

Dr. Wacht says he has noticed in many cases that the tablets not only cured indigestion, but that a very noticeable increase of flesh resulted where people who used the tablets were thin and run down in flesh before taking them, and it is not at all surprising that such should be the case when it is remembered that most people are thin because their stomachs are out of order, and when perfect digestion is brought back an increase of flesh is the natural accompaniment.

Within the last six months many thousands of cases of stomach trouble and dyspepsia have been cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and their convenience and popularity are such that druggists everywhere are now selling them. The price is 50 cents per package, and if your druggist has not yet ordered them, he will get them for you from the wholesaler. They are manufactured by F. A. Stuart Company, Marshall, Mich.

Your druggist, if he is honest, will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only preparation now before the public recommended and destined solely for the cure of indigestion and stomach troubles. No other claims are made for it; it is not claimed to be a cure-all.

HELEN GOULD AT MRS. CODY'S TRIAL.

Evident That She Does Not Wish a Severe Sentence for Her Father's Accuser.

FIGHTS FOR CONVICTION.

Testimony Shows That the Birth Record of the Alleged Claimant Was Changed.

Albany, March 3.—The opening of the trial of Margaret E. Cody, charged with attempting to blackmail members of the Gould family by threatening to present a claimant to an alleged daughter of Jay Gould and Mary Angell, who was claimed to have been legally married to him before the beginning of his career as a financier, drew only a small crowd to the court room this morning, though Miss Helen Gould was present, who would fight for a conviction, she had no desire of further punishing the old woman, who has already spent more than nine months in the county jail.

Assistant District Attorney Peter A. DeLaney opened the case for the prosecution and called the attention of the jury to the fact that the maximum sentence for the crime of blackmail was only five years, while no minimum sentence is fixed, leaving it to the discretion of the court to make the sentence as low as one day. This recalled the statement of Miss Gould that, although she would fight for a conviction, she had no desire of further punishing the old woman, who has already spent more than nine months in the county jail.

Also a letter dated Denver, Col., October 17, 1906, and signed by Mrs. Fitzpatrick. The introduction of the Beebe letter is expected to throw additional light on the Cody case, as it was written by Mrs. Cody to Mrs. Beebe, the woman who first supplied her with funds for the prosecution of the work which it is now alleged, was an attempt at blackmailing, and contains, besides the statement that Mrs. Angell confessed to the lack of marital relations with the man called "Jay," supposed to be Jay Gould, a recital of the fact that Mrs. Angell, who she would not sign her name to the execution previously referred to as Mary Brown Gould, instead of Sarah Brown Gould, made vigorous objection, explained by means of enlarged photographs of the disputed birth record why and when enures and changes had been made. He pointed to indications of the use of steel erasers and acids, and also to the fact that the name of Jay Gould had been written in ink of modern manufacture, and, according to its condition, was certainly not more than five years old. He also said that the writing of the main portion of the record bore the characteristics of "French handwriting," while that of the changes had been written in "English handwriting," with an attempt to imitate the French.

Owing to the difficulty of getting witnesses from Philadelphia an adjournment was taken until Monday morning.

SKILL WITH A PEN LED HIM TO JAIL.

Michael Lehr, Leader of a Bold Gang of Alleged Forgers, Arrested.

TWO OTHERS CAPTURED.

Young Men Said to Have Swindled Many Banks by False Checks.

There are locked up in Police Headquarters in Newark three prisoners, two of whom are not yet out of their teens, yet are said by the police to be members of one of the cleverest gangs of forgers known in this country in many years.

The prisoners are Michael Lehr, aged eighteen, of No. 285 East Third street, New York; Joseph Miller, who is in his nineteenth year, and Michael Franks, who has just turned twenty-one. Franks gave his address as the St. Cloud Hotel, New York. They were arrested by Detectives Glor and Lewis, aided by several Pinkerton men.

Lehr is the penman of the gang, and is simply a wonder in forging signatures. His work is so clever that even the banks which were swindled can scarcely believe the signatures to the checks are forgeries.

Attention was first called to the men through a check for $600 passed on the German National Bank in Newark several days ago. The matter was reported to the Bankers' Association and to the Newark police. The association called in the Pinkerton men and several of them went to Newark.

Miller was found at No. 328 Plane street, where he had opened a saloon a month ago. The place had excited police suspicion because of the many well dressed men who passed in and out at all hours of the night.

A confession made by one of the prisoners gives the name of a fourth man, but he has not yet been arrested.

Miller's family lives in New York, but their address could not be learned. His father called at Newark Police Headquarters yesterday, prepared to engage counsel for his son.

One of his sons, the police say, is now in Sing Sing Prison for having passed checks forged by Lehr, and another is in prison in Pennsylvania for a similar offence. It is alleged the gang worked throughout the West before coming East.
